Wake! For the Sun
behind yon Eastern height
Has chased the Session of the Stars
from Night;
And, to the field of
Heav'n ascending,
strikes,
The Sultan's Turret
with a Shaft of Light.

DEDICATION

To those men out of whose lives Sewanee is built. To the elder sons of the University to whom Sewanee looks for her future. To our Alumni, from whom we seek wisdom to give eternal life to the Spirit of the Mountain, the 1926 Cap
and Gown is respectfully dedicated.

THE STUDENT VESTRY

The Student Vestry is a representative body of ten students elected from classes of the College of Arts and Sciences and from the Theological School, whose aim is the development of the religious life of the University by:

- (a) Acting as an advisory council to the Chaplain in expressing the wishes and needs of the students, and in aiding the Chaplain in his work.
- (b) Initiating and fostering such local plans and organizations as will further the cause of the Christian religion at Sewanee; and
- (c) Affiliating with religious organizations and movements in other colleges and universities.

A vestryman must be elected from the class he represents and must be a baptized member of some Christian communion.

The Vestry carries on its work through five standing committees, composed of vestrymen and other students of the University. These committees are designated as follows: (a) Missions, (b) Religious Education and Worship, (c) Personal and Social Service; (d) Finance, (e) Publicity.

COACH BENNETT

COACH MOORE

The Coaches

To Coaches Bennett and Moore is due the appreciation of all Sewanee for an athletic season exceptionally successful. Sewanee has coped in all respects with teams backed by larger numbers and larger pocketbooks and, due to the unfailing effort and efficiency of "Mike" and "B. H.," the Tigers have established an unparalleled record.

The Captains

"Zaney" Barker, "Red" Williams, and Jack Todd! Three Sewanee horsemen—with kicks like a mule. Generalship and the indomitable spirit has typified these men in every contest. Chosen to fill the highest position in their respective sports, they have given their teams everything; and are rewarded by the respect and love of each Sewanee man.

Review of the Season

SEWANEE, 14; BRYSON, 0.

The great god Pigskin ordained early meat for the Tigers and gave them hopes of a virgin goal line after taking Bryson into camp. Brilliant end runs, passes, and line plays led to twenty-one first downs for Sewanee, while Bryson was able to make only one. After a steady march from midfield, Mahoney catapulted through the line for the first counter of the season. A repetition of the same medicine gave identical results early in the third quarter. Fumbles characterized the game, in which Gibbons and Mahoney were Sewanee's stars. Dill played effective football for Bryson.

SEWANEE, 53; M. T. N., 0.

October third brought a stiff wind and Middle Tennessee Teachers to the Mountain. The latter came primed to educate the Tiger in the gentle art of football, but the Tigers ended by giving them a hint or two on track and the short end of a 53-0 score. Touchdowns came as regularly as the quarters, though more often, and at the end of the third period Sewanee had scored from every position on the field. The final period was punctuated by a field goal from the versatile toe of Captain Barker. The second string backfield is credited with three of Sewanee's touchdowns. Twenty-seven first downs were made by the Tigers to the Teachers' one. The football heavens displayed too many stars for any discrimination.

SEWANEE, 6; TEXAS A. AND M., 6.

The following Thursday the Tiger gridsters encamped for Dallas, and after missing the train and listening to the Texans tout their state for twenty-four hours, arrived in time to show the fairgoers how the ancient game is played. Sewanee did everthing but win the game. The fault was not the railroad's, or the weather man's, or loss of players. Its name was Dansby. A kick had been blocked, and twenty-two men were scrambled up behind Sewanee's goal line. The referee finally got far enough down to discover the above named Aggie clutching the ball fast to his palpitating jersey. Then Sewanee showed that a tie can be one-sided by making seventeen first downs to the Farmers' three, and completing fourteen out of twenty forward passes, after the Aggies had given up with two failures. Sewanee scored in the final quarter with three plays from the forty-yard line. Mahoney rammed the ball over in true Mahoney style. Stars? Well, we heard that Sewanee had a hell-bent pair of ends, and a stonewall line, and a miracle backfield. Gibbons gave Dallas newspaper men a fine chance to be called liars. That afternoon he did everything but tailspin, and some of the Aggie playmates—well, "Gip" tied his wagon to a meteor and then outran it.

SEWANEE, 0; ALABAMA, 27.

It's a good thing Sewanee students bought round-trip tickets to that game. If they hadn't, the University would have had to move to Birmingham. The Crimson Tide was about as docile as a typhoon, and it washed away everything but the Sewanee spirit. Beaton was hurt early in the game, his last of the season; and Gooch was absent due to an injured arm. The team as a whole fought well against a superior machine. Sewanee was beaten early perhaps, but she didn't admit it. Mahoney did wonderful work in stemming the Tide's offensive, and Kent, Young, and Helvey played well in the line.

SEWANEE, 0; KENTUCKY, 14.

They say there was quite a cat fight in Lexington, Ky., on the twenty-fourth of October. The Kentuckians made fur fly—Tiger fur—and won the game, 14-0. Both tallies came late in the even periods of the game; the first due to an unfortunate punt which went out of bounds on Sewanee's twenty-nine yard line, the second caused by a fumble. The Wildcats played a winning game; the Tigers played one that was new and that lost. All season Sewanee had depended on passes and end runs. Jupiter Pluvius had sent fifty-seven varieties of rain to keep Sewanee from using either. Helvey and Mahoney showed remarkable ability at navigation.

SEWANEE, 28; CHATTANOOGA, 0.

Everything has to end. October and Sewanee's streak of hard luck stopped simultaneously. For some time past the Moccasins had been watching Sunday papers to see exactly how badly Sewanee had been beaten the day before. We don't believe they read the papers that Sunday. Nobody got writer's cramp writing scores on the Moccasin side of the ledger. Forward passes were in style as a first course. Sewanee completed seven; Chattanooga, three. Sewanee hopped, skipped, and hammered 399 yards and 11 inches to 91 yards that the Moccasin crawled. Helvey, Kent, and Kimbrough scattered the Chattanooga line all over Chamberlain field. Powers, Mahoney, Barker, and Gibbons gave friend Prater material for two weeks' musings. We wish Mr. Prater had played in that Chattanooga line. Galloping Gip cavorted one hundred and fifty yards. The Tiger bit pieces off the Moccasin's tail in the second, third, and fourth quarters, doubling the diet in the third frame to make up for starvation rations in the first.

SEWANEE, 10; MISSISSIPPI, 9.

The following week the Tiger embussed again to Chattanooga to show Verne Prater his own pets weren't the only ones amenable to defeat. When the dust cleared from the field and the scoreboard became visible, it was seen that Sewanee had annexed ten points to nine for the warriors from Oxford, Mississippi. Gibbons et al. enjoyed proving to the public at large that the Tiger's tail still curled above its back. In the first minute of play, Lady Luck, not accustomed to smile on the Tigers, giggled out loud, and Gip went fifty-five yards for a touchdown. Todd then booted the oval through the posts. During the second quarter the educated toe of Allen place-kicked three points for Mississippi. Mahoney repeated in the fourth quarter for Sewanee. On the short end of the count, with the game nearly over, the Mississippians opened up a brilliant offensive that netted them a well-deserved touchdown in the last few minutes of play. A pass, attempting the extra point, was incomplete. Gibbons, Mahoney and Powers did real things for the Tigers, while the husky Cohen illuminated the home path to Oxford.

SEWANEE, 0; TULANE, 14.

On November 14 the Tigers went down to eat pralines. They got fed up on Tulane's menu of football, particularly the Flournoy dish. The two teams were pretty evenly matched. Tulane earned eight first downs, or made them, at any rate. Sewanee chalked up eight. Yardage through the line was practically the same. Both lines did the Wall of China act; both backfields proved themselves fast and on the alert. Tulane's first score came after a long pass and a line buck, while the second ended the brilliant sixty-five-yard run of Flournoy. All this was in the second half. In the first, Kent's fifty-six-yard run to glory and Mahoney's spectacular dash for forty-five were outstanding. Kent, the red-headed demon, showed the spectators that all Louisiana football geniuses don't go to Tulane.

He deposited the pigskin globule on the one-yard line. The Tulane line held. Yes, sir, the dern thing held. With the exception of the tragic five minutes alluded to, which the Sewanee alumni spent in alternate prayer and cussing, the game was a punting duel between the flamboyant Flournoy and the redoubtable Mahoney. Sewanee will be back in the Creole City again.

SEWANE, 7; VANDERBILT, 16.

Turkey Day dawned. Everybody, from the proctors to the bootleggers, were there. The janitors went down in a body to clean up Nashville, and for the most part spent the night in the city's one free boarding house, Nashville's well-appointed jail. That game was one of the things you tell the children not to mention at the dinner table. It's something Sewanee has to remember when she goes to Nashville again. It was the first half that was Sewanee's. Mister Mahoney got through Rives, of Vanderbilt, fumbled, recovered, crossed the line. He made the extra point. Vanderbilt's stadium was in danger of falling. Soon after Sewanee's fullback was forced from his last game on the Tiger team, and the crippled Gibbons took his place. Helvey was also keeping part of the bench dry. Passes were impossible. The Tigers didn't know how to skid. The crippled Reese (Nashville Banner of Wednesday) didn't seem to have any trouble getting around. In fact, he was rather bothersomely active. Reese was credited with one counter for the Commodore, and he made possible Hendrix' other two. The Tigers wanted no alibis. They wanted the game, and the game lost, they made no excuses. Mahoney, before he left the field, was the outstanding star of the game. After he left, Reese picked up the laurels for which he had no further use. The team as a whole played like demons. They lost the game, but they gave the Commodores a fight—one of those Tiger fights you hear about.

C. T. KINSOLVING

HARRY RANSOM

The Tigerette Season

September 16 saw the Frosh out in the trail of their elder brothers. The football season was on, and eighty men were aspiring to positions on the Tigerette team. Coach "Hek" Clark took the reins and began his usual efficient driving.

Almost everybody except the waterboy was, had been, or wanted to be a backfield man. There were enough backs and quarters to supply twenty teams, but the linemen couldn't have filled a table of bridge, much less the forewall of a football game. Despite this handicap, "Hek" kept his men pushing. The team was light. It was young. It was in some respects inexperienced. But it had much that made up for these drawbacks.

A blinding rain blurred the game between the untried Sewanee Frosh and the mountainous yearlings from Georgetown. Weight beat the Tigerettes, 18-0. They put up a game fight. They were defeated by muddy odds, but they showed promise of turning into real Tigers of the Purple next year.

Against another marine background we picture the Tiger Cubs, ripping, tearing, snarling at the Centre Frosh, threatening for three quarters, but held in leash by fumbles. At the end of the third period, Centre put over a touchdown which spelled defeat for Sewanee. The fourth quarter was decidedly in favor of the Tigerettes.

Manager Bill Turner then escorted the team to Atlanta for the game booked with the Tech Frosh. The first few minutes the Tornado swept to two touchdowns. This sudden onset was followed by a clever aerial attack on the part of the Tigerettes, which resulted in six points. During the last half the Atlanta aggregation played three different kinds of football, and made each count for a touchdown. The game ended 33 to 6.

The Chattanooga game was another wet affair staged on the Mountain. It really rained this time. And the heavy backs of Chattanooga sloshed to a 32-0 victory.

Cap and Gown.....1926

This proved to be another case of being outweighed and not outfought. The Cubs were powerless in the face of the Chattanooga attack.

Vanderbilt's amateur Commodores were the last problem. A pretty hard one. The first quarter the Frosh from the Mountain took a little more than half the glory. During the second period Vandy scored 6 points on two perfectly placed drop kicks. A trick play at the end of the half netted a touchdown. After a display not equalled previously in the season, the Tigerettes scored at the end of the third quarter. Thereafter the Sewanee team played rings around Nashville's bouncing baby navigators, but were unable to score. The game ended, Vanderbilt, 13; Sewanee, 7.

It is hard to pick the stars from so expansive a heaven. Many men were developed on whom the future hopes of the Tigers will rest. Among these are Captain Rice, Davis, Schoolfield, Es'Dorn, Riley, Autin, Freyer, Monaghan, Ragan, Newman, Cautrell, de Ovies, Bruton, Askew, Lemmon, Chattin, McBride, and Cravens.

Varsity Season

Coach Bennett's call for basketball candidates was answered by twenty-five players, including Captain Jack Todd, "Doc" Beaty, "Red" Williams, West, Fitch, Nauts, and Gooch. Stiff workouts were the program. A ten-game schedule faced the Tigers, and every effort was bent toward achieving top form.

The First Tilt

Was on the home court. Bryson went home defeated, 50 to 29. Perfect team work and the infallible accuracy of the Williams-Todd combination was largely responsible for the victory. McAdams, of Bryson, was a wonder at trick shooting. Todd, with twenty-five points, was high point man. All the players promised much. Hopes for a successful season were high.

There Came a Fly

In the ointment. A fly that grew to such large proportions that the ointment was spilled all over the floor. That fly was M. T. N. The Tigers showed a reversal of form. Teamwork was poor; the well-oiled machine of the Bryson game had become rusty. Thompson, of Murfreesboro, was high scorer, with twenty-one points to his credit, most of which were gathered by breath-taking shots. Osteen and Walker were twin whirlwinds, and worked through the Sewanee defense with clock-like precision.

The Sun Shone

Again January 30th, and while daylight lasted the Tigers showed Howard the way home—the rocky road of a 49-26 defeat. Williams and Todd were back again in their old form. The first half ended, Sewanee, 26; Howard, 16. During the second half, the

Cap and Gown.....1926

Tigers shot from all angles, caging difficult tosses with apparent ease. Co-ordination was lacking in the Howard aggregation, though Smith, Wells, and Lowry played a good game. Gooch was Sewanee's defensive star.

A Sleek Tiger

Purring from the full meal of the previous week, met Milligan ready to dine again. The first half was a nip and tuck affair, which the visitors copped, 19 to 15. The Purple came out from behind during the last period, but at the final whistle were still within one point of evening the score, and the game ended, 31 to 30. Barker and Beaty did some pretty playing for the Tigers. Todd and Williams shone as usual. For the visitors, Hodges and Barron were outstanding.

A Pilgrimage

Was next in order for the Tiger. It started on February 15th. The first stop was Birmingham, where the Tigers drubbed Howard into submission once more by a 22 to 17 score. Scopel played well for Howard. Todd and Williams starred for Sewanee. The second night brought Birmingham-Southern around to get beat, and they lingered to conquer. Due mainly to the consistent work of Allen, Birmingham-Southern gained an early lead, and the game ended 33 to 19 in their favor.

The Tigers Jumped

To Tuscaloosa the next night. That was where the Tide hid out. Cocked and primed, so everybody said, to make Sewanee take up knitting for a pastime. But the Crimson was hard pushed to beat the Tigers by a 33 to 24 score. A goodly number of 'Bama's points were due to free throws, the result of Sewanee's constant fouls. "Dub" Rigsbee appeared in this game as a luminary to be watched next year.

The Next Battle

Was at Oxford, Mississippi, where they play basketball before breakfast and practice ringing shots with wheat cakes during the meal. As hosts they put their best foot forward, and romped all over the Purple Kitty, 55 to 28. The Tigers fought hard, but Traxler et al. were too much for our defense.

Meat

In the form of S. P. U. was shortly provided. The regulars were taken out of the game early, and the Lynx began to pile up points (he even had the audacity to take the lead)—but soon the regulars were rushed back in and won the game, 23 to 20.

The Journey Ended

At Murfreesboro, where live the M. T. N. teachers. In the most thrilling game of the year, these embryonic educators nosed the Tiger out of victory, 25 to 23. In the second period the Teachers reduced the Tiger lead and piled up a ten-point advantage. With one minute to go, Williams scored, and at the same time a foul was called on Normal. Red made good both free shots, decreasing the lead to a mere two points. The game ended in a tense moment, when neither team was able to score.

Sewanee's Right

On the court as well as the gridiron. Not in the heavyweight class yet, perhaps; but the team promises much, and the Mountain's court enthusiasts can look forward to a time when the Tigers will be supreme in the business.

Frosh Basketball

When there is a winning basketball team on the Mountain, everyone takes notice. But a winning freshman basketball team is something. Sewanee had a Frosh this year who were experts at "courting" in more ways than one.

Among those starring in a consistently victorious season were Monaghan, Bean, Bruton, Williams, Hope, and Cravens. Much of the success is due to the experienced and interested work of Coach "Nig" Clark, who whipped the men into shape early in the season. S. M. A. was defeated by a 39-22 count. Winchester fell before the Tiger cubs, 37-23. St. Andrews, wholly unable to cope with the expert teamwork of a perfectly organized machine, was beaten, 22-12. In all of these games the second and third team figured largely. It was at the hands of the champions of "Red Decherd" that the Little Tigers first met defeat. The game was the closest one of the season, and ended 23-20 in favor of the Decherd courtmen.

The team, ably managed by "Monty" Payne, who was advanced to varsity manager for 1927, will greatly help to fill the places left vacant by Williams, Beaty, and Gooch of Sewanee's varsity five.

Cap and Gown.....1926

Track Season

Once more Sewanee stepped into track pants and "lit" out. Nash, ex-captain of the Tigers, was acknowledged the greatest hurdler ever produced in the South. Helvey, Sewanee's giant weight man, figured largely in every meet he entered. Captain Williams was a star in the distances, while Myers, McLean, Martino, Young, Gooch, West, and Hammond showed great promise of once more making the Tigers track champs of the Southland. Nash was sent to the National Intercollegiate meet at Chicago, June 12th, after his unusual showing in Birmingham at the A. A. U. meet. Besides a number of star lettermen, the University developed some startling prospects on the freshman squad, who were undefeated throughout the season.

SCHEDULE

- April 3—Varsity versus Frosh.
- April 17—University of Tennessee, 79-33.

Baseball Comes Back to the Mountain

One wouldn't have to look very far for an alumnus that would say there was a time when Sewanee played nothing better, harder, or more often than baseball. It's been a long time, though, since the Big League scouts have included Sewanee in their itinerary. Perhaps we will have our Ruths and Sislors shortly. Looks that way.

Coach Bennett, among other things, is planning for a real baseball team in the near future. In the following men Sewanee found a good start toward fame on the diamond this year. Jakes, Monaghan, Todd, Isaac, Hoppen, Clark, Beanland, Cautrell, Powers, Aucoin, Barker, Kent and Johnson. The season resulted as follows:

Auburn . . . . .	10;	Sewanee . . . . .	6
Bryson . . . . .	7;	Sewanee . . . . .	8
Bryson . . . . .	13;	Sewanee . . . . .	9
Bryson . . . . .	4;	Sewanee . . . . .	8
Bryson . . . . .	0;	Sewanee . . . . .	0
Huntsville . . . . .	20;	Sewanee . . . . .	5

Tennis Comes in With a Racket

The Tiger tennisers "fought a noble fight." In fact, they fought two of them. Now that the season just passed has proved that Sewanee has the same tennis potentialities she has always had, it is up to those men who prophesy much to do much.

The team this year was ably managed by Dick Nauts, who is himself a veteran netman of three years' experience. He was supported throughout the season by Alfred Allen, Nig Cooke, and Kirk Finlay.

The affair with Washington was hard fought, and ended in the not unsatisfactory score of 3-2 in the visitors' favor. Georgia Tech journeyed to the Mountain with one of the best teams in the country. So they said. And so the Tiger team admitted when the Tornado swept away hopes of victory, 5-1.

Sewanee looks forward to such a number of things that it almost makes one dizzy to keep an eye on all of them. But it is certain that the University has now found a foothold in Southern tennis circles, and we may look forward with assurance to a tennis team equal to the Tiger gridmen in reputation and in conquest.

All-American

HEREAS, this edition of the CAP AND GOWN has in all cases tried to break away from the commonplace annual style, and whereas the superiority of the organization in question is undoubted, we refrain from the usual mundane enjoyment of choosing an All-American football team, but rather settle upon the following all rights to call themselves hereafter All-American Firefighters. Since this organization has been in training, the Mountain has been perverse in refusing to have a fire, but the management feels that their bravery should be recognized. Perhaps in this world there will never be need for their courage, but we admire their foresight in looking forward to the next.

The Pan-Hellenic Council

HE Pan-Hellenic Council has for its object the promotion of better interfraternity relations and the government of fraternity activities. Its membership consists of two representatives from each of the national Greek letter societies.

The Council issues rules governing rushing of new men and, in cases of violation of these regulations, acts as a court to try the offending fraternity or individual. It is significant to note that there have been no cases of violation of Pan-Hellenic rules during the past two years. Much favorable comment on the Sewanee system of rushing has been heard from various universities in the South, and in some cases the plans adopted by Sewanee Pan-Hellenic in 1924 have been copied by neighboring schools.

The second Sunday after the opening of the school year is usually designated by Pan-Hellenic as Pledge Day. At this time men who have received invitations to join fraternities go to the house of their choice to be welcomed by their future brothers.

Officers of Pan-Hellenic for the year 1925-1926 were: T. H. Wright, President, and F. H. Smith, Jr., Secretary.

The Royal Bengal Club

To crowd into the narrow compass of our allotted space its virtues, singly-cited, is a task of no easy fulfillment; could it be properly done we should shrink from so arduous a labor. In spite of the theory of fourth dimension, in spite of botanical terms, or foreign verbs, fancy still finds time to dream dreams and see visions.

A small group of boys had been dreaming dreams and seeing visions throughout the year 1924-25. Not venturing to mention his dreams to his companions, each cherished the vision and nourished it deep within his secret self. Strange to note, these boys became more and more intimate and each learned from the sincerity of the others.

June came: we parted each to our sundry tasks. The summer over, we met again in September, 1925, on the campus of our dear Alma Mater, each with his vision safely locked within, and not even suspecting another had cherished the same dream. But a vision nurtured soon becomes a part of the dreamer, and will assert itself. As time passed someone spoke of his dream. Unconsciously he had touched a fire to a material already heated by months, yea, and in some instances by years of longing. Immediately there was a mutual understanding: from all sides came the cry, "Action!"—and "Action" was the result.

After consulting several officers of the University and obtaining the Vice-Chancellor's permission, we held our first meeting on Armistice Day, 1925. An organization was perfected and a definite aim drawn up before we returned, apparently unconcerned, to our regular duties. It was, however, the exact counterpart of unconcern. "Action" is the word that most fitly describes the time after that first meeting.

We secured a residence which is to serve as our house until such time as we shall be able to obtain another better suited for the ends in view. By means of untiring observation and critical study we have added six men to our original eight, all of them men of great moral strength as well as men of excellent standing in the University.

Moreover, we are not to stop at this. One will continue to see action around the Bengal lair, until we have accomplished our ultimate aim, that is, to become a chapter in a national fraternity of high rating.

Alumni Echoes

SEWANEE, beautiful Sewanee!
When the years pile high between you and me,
The thought of your buildings, old and gray,
Will bring my heart journeying back some day.
I'll see your towers against the sky,
And the airy clouds as they float by.
I'll hasten into your fair domain—
A boy in Sewanee once again.

I'll see the men as they pass and pass,
From the halls, through the quad, and on to the class.
So soft, so still on old Walsh Hall,
I'll watch the shadows lengthen and fall;
I'll hear the chimes in their ancient song,
And I will be happy the whole day long,
Just a boy again, happy and free,
In Sewanee, beautiful Sewanee!

While Presses Wait

This page was reserved for the Sewanee Skeptics—God bless 'em! who not only said it couldn't be done, but dared certain fools to try it!

The general public thinks, you know, that annual managements are malicious combinations between literary incurables and polite bandits. Not that we started this for the fun of the thing.

Well, we're out! In other words, we're "done." But we haven't been did! For the first time since Noah was professor of Navigation, the "Cap and Gown" has something left over besides extra copies and bills. In the beginning the management looked forward to Sing Sing, but now it's rumored they have designs on Europe!

Seriously, this year's book proves what the poet said a long time ago. If the poet didn't say it, we do. Sewanee can put out an annual. If anybody has plans for a better one (and there are approximately three hundred and forty-nine of you that have), it's always easy to catch the editor along about January; and without much argument he's pretty sure to be ready to sell out, cheap. It would be a good idea, we believe, to elect the whole student body associate editors. Then they'd pay—maybe. Still, this stepchild of Sewanee publications has one advantage; it wasn't twins.

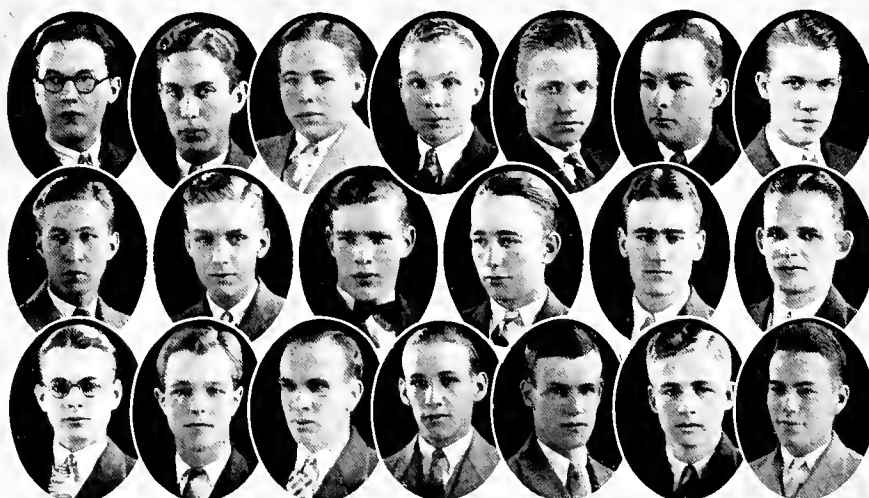

Now, listen; when in days to come you turn these pages o'er and o'er and upside down, and wonder why are college annuals, just remember, please, that according to Barnum, it took Sewanee's entire student body only 21,000 seconds to be born—one every minute—while your "Cap and Gown" was in the painful process a year.

Now, before this page is fastened down to permanency, we shall cluster around and do some editorial rah rahing. First, Mr. Cornelius S. Gooch came out of the West, held up various advertisers, roped in the necessary subscribers, and did everything the editor was too lazy to do. Mr. Benson, of Benson Printing Company, was invaluable in kicking our editorial pants when we were unruly and advising us as to how infantile we were. Mr. Capper, of Capitol Engraving Company, played Santa Claus regularly. He did the jug of wine scene in front, the decorations, and senior background. He also saw to it that you didn't have a spot of glue on your nose when the groups were engraved. Despite the discouragement of looking into your upturned faces, George and his pals of White Studio did wonders with the photography. Jimmy Davant and Deacon Gibson turned out the best set of cartoons in years. Many of our alumni proved their philanthropic bent, particularly Archdeacon Claiborne and Harry Williams. We hope all these get into heaven's telephone directory. If they don't, there won't be any such thing as appreciative editors up there.

The Purple

The "Sewanee Purple" is the official news organ of the alumni, published by the Athletic Board Control. It follows scrupulously the motto of the New York Times, "All the News That's Fit To Print." Unlike that paper, it never violates this principle.

The "Purple," in its years of existence, has been through various vicissitudes of fortune, of chance, and even poor management, but, in spite of everything, it has succeeded in keeping its head above water, and coming out twenty-five times a year. Sometimes, true, its arrival reminds one of the Mountain Goat that meets all trains, unless the engineer happens to drop his pipe somewhere along the way. But like the goat it never fails to arrive sometime, no matter how late it may be. This lateness is due purely and simply to circumstances over which not even so powerful a man as an editor has any control.

This year the editor-in-chief and his staff deserve a great deal of credit. They have made of the "Purple," for the first time in many years, a newspaper—one that is worthy of the name. The "Purple" has been as newsy as any paper under the circumstances could have been. Sewanee is small, and news travels fast. Despite the fact that much of the matter has been of necessity an old story to us on the Mountain, this material has been worked up in a new and original way. The staff also claims an unusual record for punctuality.

But no one thinks of the "Purple" without letting his thoughts turn to the little stone building across from Magnolia that houses the University Press and is the seat of one of Sewanee's truest geniuses—Mr. Sneed. As director of the Press he has not only "made" the "Purple" week by week, but has moulded its very spirit, and acted as guiding genius for each succeeding staff. Artistry and efficiency are unusual qualities, and Mr. Sneed is a wonderful combination of both.

Founded by Coleman Harwell and John Whitaker, in 1925, has been pre-eminently successful in what is perhaps the most difficult field of College Journalism. As a humorous publication it has identified itself with the best in the intercollegiate world. The "Goat" appears four times a year, and has been a welcome addition to Sewanee's literary circle.

Scholarship Society Granted Charter of Phi Beta Kappa

NEW CHAPTER INSTALLED BY DR. OSCAR M. VOORHEES AS BETA OF TENNESSEE

On March 16, 1926, Dr. Oscar M. Voorhees, secretary of the United Chapter; delegates from Phi Beta Kappa chapters of the colleges of the South Central district; guests from our sister college and close neighbor, University of Chattanooga; non-resident alumni, elected to membership in our chapter; and finally the charter members came together for the purpose of installing Beta Chapter of Tennessee at the University of the South.

At 4 P.M. in the College Library the business meeting was held and officers elected. Following this meeting the following members of the faculty were elected to Foundation membership: Benjamin Ficklin Finney, LL.D., Vice-Chancellor; William Boone Nauts, M.A., Professor of Latin, Registrar; Henry Markley Gass, (Oxon.) M.A., Professor of Greek; and William Haskell Du Bose, D.D., Acting Dean of the Theological School. The election of six additional University of the South alumni was now in order, but, owing to sickness or previous engagements, only one was able to be present. All the nominees were elected and will be initiated later. Finally, nine members of the Class of 1926 were elected to membership In Course. By request, Secretary Voorhees presided at the ceremony of initiation, giving to each one the right hand of fellowship, after explaining the symbols of the badge. A copy of "A Greeting to New Members" was presented to each initiate. The business meeting thereupon adjourned.

A truly Lucullian banquet was held that evening at seven in the Kappa Sigma house, members, guests, and their wives being in attendance. This banquet, a masterpiece of Mrs. Eggleston, was well-nigh perfect in character, being unmarred by toasts or speeches. It will long be remembered! At eight o'clock the public installation was held in the College Library.

Sopherim of Sigma Upsilon

The Scarab sprawls upon the Dictionary and refuses admittance to the land of words to all save those who give the magic password, Sopherim. Once whispered, this Open Sesame wakes the Sacred Bug, and the pilgrim is passed into the Land. Safely within the portals, the Scarab has many at his call who are the hoary guides through the wordways and papyrus forests until the ultimate goal, the City of Literary Achievement, be reached.

About 1905 a group of students at Sewanee banded together for the purpose of stimulating their own literary activities and encouraging the spread of literary pursuits throughout the South. In 1906 these men organized a literary fraternity known as Sigma Upsilon, the largest and most powerful of its kind in America. The nucleus of the organization was Sopherim Chapter, of Sewanee; Calumet Club, Vanderbilt; Osiris, Randolph-Macon; and the Senior Round Table, University of Georgia. From so modest a beginning has grown an organization which has sent men into the world to work magic with words, and many of the country's foremost authors have come forth from the laboratories of Sigma Upsilon.

Chelidon

In the good old days, before there were Fords and Prohibition, the E. Q. B. used to buy beer and Chelidon used to drink it. But the E. Q. B. was forced into drinking hot chocolate or lemonade, and Chelidon disbanded because of lack of proper spirit. Several years ago a comeback was staged, and Chelidon became once more the lark of the campus. But the swallow-like qualities prevailed, and now Chelidon slumbers.

Chelidon has found the Wells' Utopia, where women don't talk and the men don't have to, naturally. Will come a day, perhaps, when Chelidonians shall convene for great argument. That day has not yet arrived. Sewanee Spirit directs itself in other channels. Sewanee has lost the art of saying the same thing five different ways and meaning nothing. The mascot of the society, the Phoenix, now lies in ashes. Some day it shall spring up, renewed by fire—the fire of bitter protest falling from the lips of optimistic youth.

NEOGRAPH

Debating Season

The Sewanee Debating Team has been famed for some time as one of the foremost argumentative aggregations in Dixie. This year nineteen men were active debaters, representing the University in intercollegiate debates with the leading teams of the South. Out of ten debates scheduled, eight were won.

Next year, under the experienced guidance of Major W. H. McKellar, to whom is due the almost miraculous growth of the activity, there will be held throughout the year elimination debates. In these contests newcomers will meet the varsity debaters, and when Sewanee sends a team against Tulane, or Vanderbilt, or North Carolina, she will be represented by men skilled in the practice of argumentation.

Sewanee has produced in the past two years several of Dixie's best known debaters. Among this number are Earl Mac Blain, a veteran of several years, James I. Teague, who remains undefeated in intercollegiate circles, William S. Turner, president of the 1926 Debate Council, and a number of others who give promise of continuing Sewanee's good record.

The Debate Council has announced that a debate in New York will probably be scheduled with Columbia University next season. It is not unlikely that this contest will lead to a Northern tour, on which the team will meet universities such as Harvard, Yale, and Princeton.

The 1926 Glee Club

Sewanee has sung herself into the hearts of the world! This year's Glee Club brought the University before the eyes of the whole country in an extended tour throughout the South, which was closed by the program broadcasted from Atlanta, WSB of the Atlanta Journal broadcasting. In commenting on the Sewanee Club, the Associated Press said: "Few college choruses are better trained or more nearly represent the spirit of a great institution. The Sewanee singers have few peers in the college circles of America."

"Red hot!" So all the newspapers agreed when they heard the performance of the syncopating aggregation from the Mountain. Sewanee doesn't possess but one orchestra. Sewanee doesn't need but one orchestra. Long after "Hey! Hey!" loses its meaning, the 1926 Syncopators will be a subject of conversation. Just because of the way they made their music steal into the inside of you while everybody's toes tapped.

German Clubs

These clubs carry on Sewanee's terpsichorean reputation with Charlestonian dignity. Thanksgiving, Easter, and Commencement dances are under their auspices. The Senior German Club is composed of all those who have passed twenty-nine hours and dance; the Junior German Club is composed of everybody else who dances.

Since the days when the Beau Brummels had to wear hobnails to keep splinters from getting in their feet, Sewanee has designed and produced the most famous dances in the South. And now that the Old Forensic, which the sheiks of yesteryear speak of in hushed whispers, is gone, Sewanee still maintains a high average in beauty and spirit. Three times a year the Mountain goes crazy, falls in love, and finally settles down in time to look forward to the next advent of Sewanee's Sweethearts.

A Conquest in Faith

For nearly thirty years there has been identified with this University an alumnus who never knew the meaning of the word "Quit." Ceaselessly he has worked for the material growth of the Mountain; the welfare of Sewanee has been his constant aim.

Archdeacon W. S. Claiborne was first associated with the University as rector of Otey Parish. Almost with his own hands he built the church and rectory which stands as a permanent memorial to one of Sewanee's greatest alumni. Under his direction, St. Mary's School was reconstructed and equipped. As commissioner of endowment for the University he accomplished wonders, and when Sewanee's Hospital burned and the University was without an infirmary, it was Archdeacon Claiborne who raised the funds to build the present up-to-date plant. It was he who labored for fifteen years in its support. St. Andrew's School for Boys, with campus, faculty, and equipment equal to our best prep schools was yet another accomplishment of this man of vision, whose motto was Service. About five years ago, Archdeacon Claiborne launched a drive for the DuBose School, a memorial to Sewanee's foremost theologian. He did not stop until the school was a reality. When it burned, he rebuilt it. Rebuilt it and endowed it. Rebuilt and energized it. Rebuilt it and in the building became the man in whom this section of the world finds a center. The University, surrounded by the handiwork of The Apostle of the Mountains, stands a sister institution of the Claiborne Foundations, built by the faith of a great man who has gone forth from Sewanee's doors.

Commencement, 1926

There are four occasions in a man's life at which he is a figure of supreme importance—his birth, his graduation, his marriage, and his funeral. Of these four, none covers him with more glory than his graduation, for at the remaining three, some other figure always shares the centre stage. At his birth it is his mother; at his marriage, his bride; and at his funeral, his undertaker.

Commencement Day dawned as all other days do, with the sun cocking an eye over the eastern ridge. Propped on one elbow, he slyly smiled as he gazed down upon the forty-odd most important men in the world—Sewanee's brand new alumni.

Happiness rocked the mountain that day. The last minute flurry was breathless. A famous bishop had mislaid his hood; seniors were rushing about trying to appear as though they had received degrees at least a dozen times before. Finally the choir found the place in their hymnals, and slowly the procession moved towards All Saints.

Sensations are funny things. As Sewanee's senior class passed through the wide doors of the chapel for the last time, we felt the unusual sensation of mixed sorrow and joy. Happiness and solemnity had joined hands in this parting of the ways.

Walter Green, of South Carolina, delivered an impressive salutatory in Latin. His audience would have been heartily in favor of anything he said that day. W. A. Sadd, D.C.L., President of the Chattanooga Savings Bank and an honorary alumnus of Sewanee, delivered the University Oration. The Hon. F. C. Morehouse, of Milwaukee, Wis., who was to have been the speaker of the day, was unable to come to the Mountain because of an accident shortly before Commencement. Dr. Sadd's address to the class was one of both advice and hope.

Daniel H. Hamilton, of Maryland, the Valedictorian, was a tradition breaker in that role. He really said things. Sewanee's future is linked with Sewanee's past, and in those traditions and ideals which have characterized the University for so many years, Sewanee will find the path toward a greater destiny.

Commencement was over. Out through the doors of All Saints the procession filed once more. And the seniors of an hour before were now alumni, grasping the skin which announced in irreproachable Latin that here was a man on whom Sewanee had set her stamp, who would go forth and become in the world a representative worthy of his Alma Mater.

Notes on Commencement

HONORARY Degrees were conferred by the University upon the following men—Litt.D.: Francis Lynde, of Chattanooga. D.C.L.: Robert Wilson, B.A., M.D., LL.D., Dean of the Medical College of South Carolina; R. H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record, Baltimore, Md.; Alexis D. Parker, B.A., M.A., S.T.B., Philadelphia. D.D.: Rev. Wm. P. Witsell, B.S., B.Litt., B.D., Waco, Texas; Rt. Rev. Campbell Gray, M.A., Bishop of Northern Indiana; Rt. Rev. J. D. Wing, Bishop Coadjutor of South Florida; Rt. Rev. Robt. Erskine Campbell, B.A., Bishop of Liberia.

The Purple Mask Club presented Oscar Wilde's Importance of Being Earnest, Saturday night, June 5. They were accompanied in the entertainment by the quartet of the Sewanee Glee Club.

The Rt. Rev. Iving P. Johnson, Bishop of Colorado, preached an inspiring sermon to the graduating class Commencement Sunday.

The Commencement Dances were a testimony to Sewanee's ability to put on something besides successful examinations. The Sigma Nu's and Phi Gam's were hosts to the University at delightful entertainments.

The A. B. C. added something to Commencement by the announcement of an appropriation for improvements on Hardee Field.

The banquet of the Associated Alumni was held on Monday evening, June 7. That afternoon the Class of '91 celebrated their thirty-fifth reunion.

Proctors were appointed for next year as follows: P. A. Rubin, Head Proctor; Hall Proctors: Glad Rogers, J. H. Smith, O. G. Helvey, J. R. Sory, T. R. Waring, Jr., H. L. Eustis, Jr., G. B. Jones, and G. P. Rice.

A number of alumni graced the Mountain during the Commencement season. It may be the Dixie, good crops, or the scenery, but more and more alumni are returning. We wonder how long it will be before the present students admit their undeniable attachment.

Phi Beta Kappa elected the following men to membership, June 5: T. P. Noe, Jr., K. Kelley, W. G. Green, L. Hebert, T. R. Waring, Jr., and Maner Wade. The Rt. Rev. Thos. F. Gailor, The Rt. Rev. James Craik Morris, Dr. Elliott, heart specialist of New Orleans, and Dr. LeGrand Guerry were also initiated at the ceremonies held Saturday night.

NOTE—The Management herewith expresses its regret at the late arrival of the Commencement photographs, which made publication impossible.

"Between You, Me and the Gatepost"

This is a surprise. We hope you like surprises. Here's one. Look it over.

As a matter of fact, we don't know what genus this surprise belongs to. Sorta leftouticus censoribus suppressatorium. All of which means that the predecessor of our surprise was a werry, werry wicked thing, with a long beard, and a microscope, and a waggly tongue. He was so wicked we thought he ought not to appear in a book the moral tone and aristocratic content of which is unquestionable. By no means. That meant he had to get out—and his nest was left vacant. Nest? Of course, for you see, he was a werry, werry bad egg.

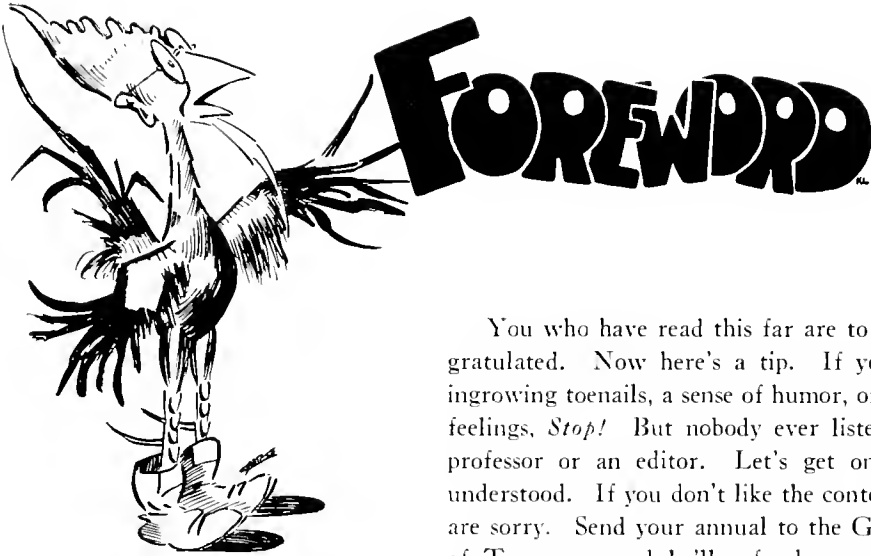

This action, gentle reader, will help you. It was taken for your benefit. We don't want you to get conceited. Now you can never say, "I have seen everything," for there in the wastebasket the predecessor of this brainstorm looks up with a wicked wink. Not for worlds would we demoralize you. We leave that to Whiz Bang, Judge, and the Sewanee Purple. Be glad that there is no editor standing over the University, who, seeing a part that is thus and so, leans down and marks with a bloody pen, "Delete."

"Come back again in '27"

FARCE

You who have read this far are to be congratulated. Now here's a tip. If you have ingrowing toenails, a sense of humor, or tender feelings, Stop! But nobody ever listens to a professor or an editor. Let's get one point understood. If you don't like the contents, we are sorry. Send your annual to the Governor of Tennessee, and he'll refund your money.

If you get your feelings hurt, we are sorry, too. Write to the editor, and he'll apologize—perhaps. His address will be the State Lunatic Asylum. One thing more. If you think this section could be improved upon, don't get stuck up. We thought so long before you did!

DEDICATION

The editor knew of a number of individuals to whom he might dedicate this wholesome hee-haw shop. He knew, too, that they expected it. So he tricked them. Somewhere in the front of the book you will find a picture entitled, "The Order of Gownsmen"—just like that, as if you'd say, "Order of Spaghetti, $ .25!" The funny part about it is that this order isn't even worth two bits. They preferred eating to paying their annual assessment. They preferred filling their stomachs to filling our treasury. They cried, "Give us eats or give us debt!" and we gave them debt. We gave them more than that. We gave them the horse laugh. Aren't we kind? Well, what we have writ, we have writ. Would it were writtier!

Fuzzy-Wuzzy Re-Vamped

We're taught by many men in this here school,
And some of 'em are fiery—some are not.
The Dean, fer instance, maybe you'd call cool,
But Fuzzy, he's the warmest of the lot.

'E's fightin' schoolmarm evils all the time;
There don't exist for 'im a greater ogress;
An' blimey, it's a sartain bloody crime
To mispronounce a word the likes of progress.

So 'ere's to you, Doctor Fuzzy, in yer cultcher makin' biz,
When better 'ells are built, they'll play up your weekly quiz,
An' in listin' Saints an' Martyrs, 'long with Alfred ('E was Great)
We'll include the man who taught us what the kings of England ate!

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Tee: "Who was the little blonde in blue?"

Hee: "Never saw her before."

Tee: "Wasn't her before I was talking about?"

THE BUTT OF THE HILLS

Hopes to find a path
Out of the smoke and dust;
It hopes to please you if it can
And butt you if it must.
But should these fondest hopes prove false,
And all its efforts fail,
'Twill bear the blame and sit alone
Upon its Purple tail.

Arthur N. (at gate): "I'm one of the Berries."

Gatekeeper: "I don't give a dern if you're the cat's pajamas, you can't get in here."

No wonder Sewanee's a church school. Nobody else could win so many "moral victories" and get away with it.

The stag at eve had drunk his fill,
And Charlestown all around until
He had to lean against the wall.
Forsooth, it was the Prowler Ball!

Everybody on the outside says that Sewanee is the wildest place in America. A Sewanee gentleman is more considerate; he'll prove it to you.

Highat: "Do you like t'neck?"
Not So High: "No, I prefer de back."

Hilarious Hal's Pointed Punches

Just like the Purple, all alliterated. But we get cussed out once a year; they catch it every week.

They say they'll make New York dry if it takes a billion dollars. This student body will drink it dry for less than that.

The editor's opinion of you: A bunch of nuts who can't appreciate real literature, and wouldn't pay for it if you could.

Your opinion of the editor: A literary imbecile who won't print anything but his own stuff, and expects you to put out for the privilege of reading it. You're both right!

Mr. Finney is a dreamer, somebody said. Just like all dreamers, he has his nightmare every once in a while. We're this month's.

They call Mr. Nauts "Tabby" 'cause he's hell on rats.

If you want a pleasant surprise, go to the Supply Store and order a glass of water. They won't have to send to Nashville for that!

Notice!

We have retained Popgun and Whiffletree as our attorneys. All objectors see them. Also, Steed and Leonard, undertakers, are offering cut rates to objectors!

A little girl I know reminds me of a cop. First she gives the sign to go; then the sign to stop.

That same girl is like a football team all by herself; heavy line and fast back feel.

Visitor: "Have you been here all your life?"

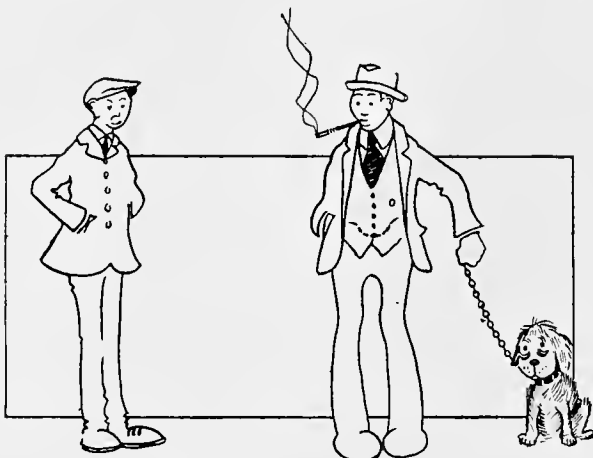

Frank Smith: "No, not yet."

The modern girl may have her faults, but at least, she's not effeminate!

This student body may be divided into two classes: Those who look like somebody and aren't, and those who don't look like anybody and aren't, either.

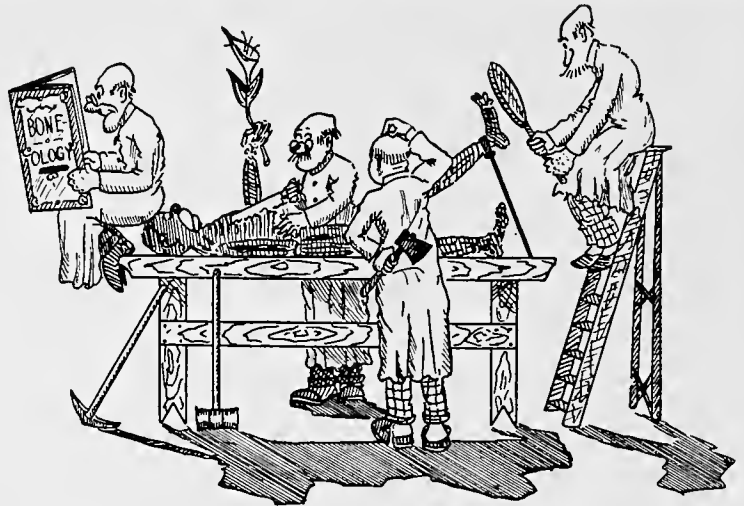

When lights are low, and the zest of the day is over; when the bottle is done and the spell of contentment comes over you—

It's Time to Retire!

Mile: "Male or female?"

A Minute: "Neither. Airdale."

"Prithee, Chrysotom, why is the corpse so sanitary?"

"Ought to be, Pluto. Hath been soaked in alcohol often enough."

Nautical Ecstasy

Glimmering light, shimmering on waving water;
Lashing waves, slapping the cheeks of
high walls!
Rising foam, prizing each lingering bubble:
Hopefully, soapfully taking a bath!

Mrs. Feitlebaum: "Isidor, yoose pencil in a sentence."

Isidor: "Don't I find a pin, my pencil fall down."

Say, little Senior, don't be bold;
You're just a Freshman, four years old.

Chit: "The Bengals have the Choir
roped."

Chat: "Yeah, they call their Big Boy
the Eminent Enquirer."

Goil Friend: "You don't mean Lou un-dressed at the party?"

Boy Companion: "No, I said she got necked."

Composite Photo of Staff

You thought
That this was a poem
Because every line
Begins with a capital?
Well, it isn't.

Hee: "I'm so very despondent."
Haw: "Why?"
Hee: "I sent the annual my best poem, entitled, 'Why Do I Live?' and the editor replied: 'Because you didn't present this in person'."

Here lie the remains of a radio fan,
Now mourned by many relations;
He went to a powder mill smoking a pipe,
And was picked up by 24 stations.

Stray Hairs From the Tail of the Fraternity Goat

Brother Grand Misfit: "Brother Hankins, count the brothers present. Only sixty-four absent? Brother Eminent Adding Machine, meet our newest pledge."

Brother Beaty: "Let us pray."

Brother Neal: "Why?"

Brother Beaty: "Brother Neal, who's running this chapter?"

Brother Neal: "I don't know, but it's making dam' slow time."

Brother Nauts: "The furniture needs fixing. Who volunteers to raise the money? (Perfect silence.) I said who'd volunteer to raise the money? (Pluperfect silence.) Oh, hell!"

Enthusiastic Brother: "We must be more active."

Brother in Darkness: "Egad, we've got the faculty sewed; what more do you want?"

Brother Nash: "Brother Janitor, have you swiped the pool cues from the Nigma Sus yet? Aha, Brother Janitor, two bits for neglect of duty."

Brother Disorder: "Brothers, we have been accused of politicking."

Brother Hamilton: "Honi Soit Qui Mal Y Pense!"

Brother X: "Brother Hamilton, you're fined for profanity."

Brother Clark: "Are there any proposals for membership?"

Brother (disgustedly): "Christopher Columbus couldn't pass this chapter."

Brother Initiate: "The Kappa Snigmas told me he was a member of their lodge."

Progressive Brother: "I propose we build a new house."

Brother from Bologna: "What ou?"

Pro. Brother: "On the site of The Union."

Brother Policeman: "Brother Pro, you're out of order."

Brother Pro: "I know it. It's Dr. Kirby-Smith's fault; he gave me castor—"

Bothers (in unison): "Shut up!"

Brother Wright: "Brothers, we simply must raise the scholastic average of this chapter. Last term . . ."

Brother Faculty Adviser: "My God, my good men, it is deplorable. Not the slightest scholastic attitude. All our fraternity mates should make Phi Beta Kappa."

Meeting breaks up with generous prayer for all the other chapters on the Mountain.

Man: "I'm going to be shot at sunrise."

Maiden: "Save me a drink, won't you?"

"You just know she wears 'em"

What's Wrong With This Picture?

"Hell with your Tuesday quizzes; I'm tired of coming to class!"

"No, sir, I haven't a complex, but I've had measles."

"Can't see a thing in that fool essay. I like College Humor much better."

"That exam was so easy I think you ought to give us another one."

"Surely, I believe in co-education. College girls have such an uplifting influence."

"Pardon me, newcomer, but may I have permission to smite thee on thy rostrum?"

"Oh, goody-goody, we won a moral victory!"

"Yep, Dean, I was drunk!"

We wish to nominate the 1926 CAP AND GOWN staff as personal advisers to Mr. Coolidge in his economy program. As conservers of energy this group of geniuses was unparalleled. Two were said to have had nervous breakdowns trying to get out of work.

The Butt of the Hills is merely a chatty little organ—out of tune sometimes, like its All Saints' contemporary—for dispensing free thought. (Sewanee wouldn't have it if it weren't free.)

According to the Board of Health report in 1884, which has been appearing in University catalogues ever since, Sewanee is "a health resort, which fulfills the requirements of tourist, invalid, and seeker of rest." Are we to suppose the students compose the last class?

WANTED!—By the A. T. O.'s, Modesty. By the Sig Alph's, Men. By the Kappa Sig's, Might. By the Phi Diddles, Majesty. By the Delta's, Material. The K. A. Order (or disorder), Merriment. By the Phi Gam's, Money. By the Sigma Nu's, Manor. By the Royal Bengal, Makings.

Member of the Class of '43 delivering an address on, "How Sewanee Is Going to Make a Man of Me."

Proctors for next year have been appointed—the flowers of the school. Now, somebody get bright and say, "Yeh, corn-flowers."

We sympathize with our "humorous" contempts. We know how it feels to search the archives for something that sounds original.

The next time the Dean makes you feel like a dog, congratulate yourself. Whoever heard of Fitz getting on C. P.?

If You Are a Dumbjohn; If Your Very Soul Rebels At Spending the Old Man's Money on Licker and Special Exams, Quit Being a Wall-Flower.

OUR RED-HOT COURSE WILL SHOW YOU!

We Have Trained Thousands of Men to Be More Than Bridegrooms. Don't Delay a Minute. Just Walk in and Say: "So's Your Old Man!"

How to Pass Dr. Sedley Lynch Ware, P. D. Q.

Get to class at least thirty-five minutes before time. Erase the blackboard to make room for his syllabus. Tell him the chimes have rung. Sit bolt upright with ears thrown back. Bat your eyes and nod your head to show you are listening intently—you'll get used to it after a while. In quizz section memorize the names of all the royal butlers. Don't ask questions on exam; there are seventy others suffering with you. Never miss a quizz. Don't be "one of those johnnies."

How to Pass Tudor Seymour Long

Read and memorize Paradise Lost, Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, and Wordsworth's Collected Poems. Read your parallels whether they kill you or not. Tudor will if they don't. Before exam's go to Winchester to get some new lines on Gloria Swanson. Get an article from somewhere by T. S. Long and run it into your examination. Don't say Don Wan; say Don Jew-an. Pronounce gentleman as if it were three words. Never cuss—out loud.

How to Pass Dean Geo. M. Baker, Yale

Call Fitz "Feetz." Make the Scholarship Society. Go to Paris. Always wear a gown to class, whether you are a gownsman or not. Don't pull the dead grandmother excuse more than twice; persons don't have but two of them. Talk about everything, but don't say much. Take both German and French. He won't have the heart to flunk you twice. Sit on the front seat. Play bridge.

How to Pass William Boone Nauts (No kin to Dan'l)

Have a speaking acquaintance with at least thirty Latin grammars. If anybody inveigles you into cutting, write out the lesson and parse it. Don't be sarcastic; he's got the jump on you. Develop a sense of humor. Save up to buy at least sixty books. If you can't laugh at your luck, laugh at his jokes. Prayer is the only thing that will help you before exam's. Suicide might be a relief afterwards.

How to Pass Albert G. Willey

Cut the hind legs off all the clams you can find. If you flunk, tell him it was merely a college prank. He knows; he went to Dartmouth. Find out who the student instructor is, if he doesn't let you know for himself. Don't lose heart if you bust every quizz from September to May; this course isn't flunked until the last exam. Remember, if man didn't descend from monkeys, it's unhealthy to admit it. If you don't like cutting frog tummies, tell the prof you have indigestion. If you do, go ahead, and you'll get indigestion anyhow. During the year, smile. When the grades come out, laugh—if you can.

How to Pass Major Henry M. Gass (Oxon.)

If it's Greek, sit on the middle row and lend Major your book. Don't be a "bahee." Memorize everything in the little red White book. Learn how to work a radio, but be careful you don't bust his. Pretend you're really interested when Cyrus parasangs an exelaun. Volunteer to translate. You'll get the thanks of the whole class. There's no use buying a jack. Enough were left over from last year's class. Show your brains, if you have any; but don't get in the limelight; you're liable to get singed.

SEWANEE MILITARY ACADEMY

SEWANEE, TENNESSEE

To an ideal boys' world on its own domain of 8,000 acres, 2,000 feet up in the Cumberlands, where Nature offers health, beauty, and an inspiring ruggedness and an isolation from the usual distractions of school life, Sewanee adds a cultured community, fine associates, and interested leadership.

A strong personally interested faculty, small classes, genuine instruction, and careful direction prepare a boy for college or for the responsibilities of life.

Clean, amateur athletics, wisely planned, contribute to the development of a rugged constitution.

A rigid system of military training and discipline lends itself to the maturing of the finest citizenship.

What Sewanee Stands For

THE EDUCATION OF THE WHOLE MAN—

His BODY, in a physical environment and training almost ideal.

His MIND, through courses in a scientifically correct curriculum, and through contact with a faculty strong in scholarship and personality.

His CHARACTER, through the constant influence of Christianity as expounded and exemplified in the life of the University Community.

THE MAKING OF A CITIZEN—

In theory, through the influence of that ideal of patriotism which we call the Sewanee Spirit.

In practice, through the dynamic living as a citizen in a community of which the student body constitutes the citizenship.

Individuality

Originality

and Scenic Beauty

The lover of nature can spend a week in the Blue Grass, with headquarters at the Phoenix Hotel, making daily tours of seventy-five to one hundred miles to points of interest and not see it all.
